Croma LED Floor Lamp by Lodes

The Croma floor lamp was designed by Lodes design curator, Luca Nichetto. The floor light is named after the Italian word for quaver, resembling the dynamic and sleek silhouette of the musical note. Nichetto creates a thoroughly contemporary product by having a big base that extends into a slim top. The LED light source then sits in the top of the lamp, emitting upwards for an ambient and effective glow.

The Croma LED floor light is available in 4 colours, matte white, matte black, green or bronze. The green and bronze finishes are metallic in look and fade into different colours with green fading to black and bronze fading to nickel, matching the upward illumination of the floor lamp. The matte black and matte white finishes are one block colour, being a more subtle choice that works particularly well in bigger projects and commercial spaces.

The LED floor lamp also comes with a dimmer switch that has a dim-to-warm function that allows the user to dim the light as well as the colour temperature from 2200K to 3200K. The colour temperature emulates natural light so you can create a sunset or bright daylight in your space. A stunning, minimalist light that will look gorgeous in any interior.
