Lost LED Ceiling / Wall Light by Magis

The Lost wall and ceiling light is part of the innovative Magis Lost collection, a range designed by studio BrogliatoTraverso. The studio was founded in 2014 by designers Alberto Brogliato and Federico Traverso who have a shared passion for creating timeless products that are versatile enough to suit any type of space. Embodying this passion with their design approach, "no time, no space", the Lost ceiling/wall lamp is the epitome of a functional and enduring fixture.

The Lost wall and ceiling light can be used in virtually any space and is defined by its circular lampshade that features a central hollow. The round space draws in the user, framing its surroundings and producing a minimalist aesthetic. The integrated LED light source sits on the outside of the shade, achieved by using cutting-edge LED technology. The wall/ceiling lamp is available in two sizes and in a black finish to be used in a massive range of interiors.
