Designer: Jo Hammerborg

Trombone Floor Lamp by Warm Nordic

The Trombone floor lamp was designed by Jo Hammerborg who first created the design in 1966. After overcoming many technical difficulties, Hammerborg succeeded in his vision and took massive pride in the design, even featuring the light in his own home for many decades. The floor light has its musical name as the frame resembles a trombone slide, holding a sleek cylindrical lampshade that is chic and classic.

The Trombone floor light is available in a brass or aluminium finish, providing an elegant aesthetic to any space. The lampshade can also tilt up and down, providing a directable glow that is wonderful for reading or tasks. Use in lounges, dining rooms, bedrooms and more for a vintage touch in your interior.
