PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

Designer: Jo Hammerborg

Warm Nordic Trombone Floor Lamp

The Trombone Floor Lamp was designed by Jo Hammerborg who first created the design in 1966. After overcoming many technical difficulties, Hammerborg succeeded in his vision and took massive pride in the design, even featuring the light in his own home for many decades. The floor light was named after the instrument as the frame resembles a trombone slide, holding a sleek cylindrical lampshade. The geometric design is emphasised by the lamp's square base.

The Trombone Floor Lamp is available in a brass or aluminium finish, providing an elegant aesthetic to any space. The lampshade can be tilted up and down, providing a directable glow that is wonderful for reading or tasks. Use in lounges, dining rooms, bedrooms, and more for a vintage touch to your interior. Also available in the Trombone Collection is The Trombone Table Lamp and The Trombone Cylinder Pendant which can be installed individually or together to create a sleek, chic, and consistent lighting scheme.
