The Kori Pendant Light is the most versatile in the collection by artek. Kori translates to 'basket' in Finnish, referring to the unique diffuser which sits on each one of these pendants. The Kori Pendant is available with a choice between three shade options, and the direction of the light depends upon which shade you choose. The no shade option will offer you both direct and indirect light with no obstruction, resulting in an even light emission across your room. The disk shade offers a soft direct downlight, which illuminates the area below whilst avoiding any glare. Finally, the dune shade casts a glare-free light across a wider area, once again illuminating the surface below, whilst also gently diffusing an indirect light upwards.

The artek Kori Pendant light was designed by TAF Studio and launched during Stockholm Design Week in February 2023. This luminaire expertly combines atmospheric lighting with practicality. The contemporary style and high quality materials both come together to result in a gorgeous accent lighting option for your home or public space. The Kori Pendant looks especially spectacular above kitchen islands, dining areas and counters.
