The bestselling Nautilus wall light is an innovative and versatile light that can be used in many settings. The wall light is made from metal with a diffused light that points upward and downward. The wall lamp is also adjustable, with the user being able to twist each light outwards and inwards and each lampshade can be rotated to point wherever you need. This makes the Nautilus wall lamp very handy, as you can create light the way you want, whether you need to create ambience, or if you want to highlight your favourite art on the wall.

The wall lamp has an integrated LED source which is dimmable, giving you complete control over the light. This light can be used in many rooms and can be used in small and big spaces to create maximum impact where needed. The design itself is contemporary and modern and with clean, sleek lines, the Nautical LED wall light will not disappoint.
