Marset Mercer Pendant

Created from transparent blown glass, the Marset Mercer pendant envelopes a textile shade, giving the appearance that the shade is floating within. These shades, which are available in natural cotton ribbon and pearl white, diffuse the light from the pendant, creating a soft and ambient glow. The minimalistic design of the Mercer exudes lightness and sophistication, making it ideal in creating ambient lighting in many living spaces such as hallways, living rooms and bedrooms. They can be arranged individually or in multiples in rows or clusters, making these pendants adaptable for various styles and spaces.

The Mercer pendant has been created by Spanish-born designer Joan Gaspar. Gaspar started manufacturing lamps in 1988, working closely with Marset from the mid-1990s, and went on to receive critical acclaim for his work.
