Gubi Bestlite BL7 Wall Light

The BL7 Wall Light is a celebrated design by British pioneer Robert Dudley Best, a name synonymous with the Bauhaus movement. First created in 1930, this wall lamp remains an enduring icon of modernist design. Part of the Bestlite collection, it is now displayed in prestigious institutions like the Victoria & Albert Museum, a testament to its timeless appeal. The BL7 Wall Light features a compact, elegant form with a movable shade, allowing for precise light direction. Whether illuminating a cosy reading nook or casting a soft glow over a kitchen counter, its functionality is matched only by its style. Its minimalist design makes it perfect for smaller spaces, but it also works beautifully in multiples, creating a striking visual statement along hallways or large walls.

Available in a selection of base finishes and shade colours, the BL7 can be tailored to suit any interior aesthetic. Its Bauhaus-inspired form and adaptable design make it equally suited to contemporary and traditional settings, offering understated elegance and practicality in equal measure.
