BL2 Table Lamp by Bestlite

The BL2 table lamp was designed by British designer Robert Dudley Best in 1930. This table lamp is both elegant and functional and maintains all the original beauty from its first release, being a piece of history for the modern eye. The BL2 table light was first used by garages and the RAF engineering departments because of its flexibility. The arm can be bent and the lampshade can be moved to direct the light where you need.

This table light then became iconic and took the design world by storm because of its style, clean lines and sophisticated form. Now, this acclaimed light is available for personal and commercial use, available in 3 base colours, chrome, brass and black brass and a variety of shade finishes. This light works wonderfully as a desk light and for use on tables and side tables in lounges, bedrooms, offices and reception areas. A chic touch in any room, the versatility and charm of the BL2 make it the best choice for a wide variety of settings.
