Fontana Arte Ashanghai Table Lamp

The Fontana Arte Ashanghai Table Lamp, designed by Max Ingrand in 1955, is a timeless example of modernist elegance and innovation. Its iconic structure is composed of five intersecting borosilicate glass tubes, held together by chromed brass joints, creating a sculptural form that adds sophistication to any interior. The Ashanghai is not just a decorative piece but a functional light that beautifully blends form and utility.

The white acid-treated glass diffuser emits soft, diffused light both downward and through the shade, providing a warm, ambient glow. Perfect for desks, side tables, or living spaces, the Ashanghai Table Lamp includes an integrated dimmer, allowing you to personalise the brightness and create the desired atmosphere. Its combination of artistic craftsmanship and practical functionality makes it an enduring statement piece for residential or commercial settings.
