Le Klint Cache Floor Lamp

The Caché floor lamp was designed by Aurélien Barbry in 2014 as part of the Le Klint Caché collection. Wanting to use simple forms and renewed typologies as part of his design philosophy, Barbry achieves this with the caché floor light as he uses smooth lines and the historic Le Klint hand-pleated lampshade for his creation. The diffuser is neatly tucked away underneath the metal shade, giving the allusion of being hidden; Barbry aptly used caché to then name his light as it means hidden in French.

This floor lamp has a sleek angled arm, allowing for a direct, diffused light to cast a nice glow, perfect either as a reading light or as an ambient light. Available in a black colour finish, this floor light is subtle and sophisticated, being able to seamlessly fit into any design scheme or existing décor. Achieving both a timeless and contemporary look, the Caché floor lamp will work best in lounge areas in both domestic and commercial interiors.
