PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

Diva Pendant by Northern

Christened with a name often given to extravagant personalities, this set of bent plywood pendant lamps has a lot to live up to. Like others who share the name, Diva takes centre stage. When suspended from the ceiling, the pendant version provides an attractive focal point while softly diffusing light over the room beneath it. The shade's spiralling shape creates a multi-directional design that can be appreciated from two different vantage points, forming two distinct versions of a single design.

The floor lamp is attached to a discreet base made of polished steel. The inner stem supports a mouth-blown glass globe with a frosted surface that softens the light. Both versions of Diva are available in laminated oak or walnut, materials chosen for their ability to create sweeping, sculptural shapes that remain durable and strong. Made from 32 individual strips of wood, the lamp is handmade using the tools and techniques of traditional Norwegian laminated wood craftsmanship. Whether illuminated at night or seen in the cold light of day, Diva promises to make its presence felt.
