Tom Dixon Melt Table Lamp

The Tom Dixon Melt Table Lamp features a wonderfully misshapen shade that houses the light source and creates a mesmerising melting-blown-glass result. Part of the Melt's attractiveness is the difference between when it is lit and when it is off, even when off the Melt fills any room with a sense of enchantment with its mirror-like shine and when on, the Melt Table Lamp bathes the surrounding space with warm and ambient light and the mirror finish transcends into a translucent sphere. This lighting solution boasts an integrated on/off button on the base of the lamp, providing ease of use and a stylish aesthetic to the form.

The copper finish of the Melt Table Lamp allows the lighting solution to adapt to a range of contemporary interiors, display it individually or alongside the Melt Floor Lamp for a more cohesive interior. The Tom Dixon Melt Collection also includes pendants in two sizes, multiple canopy options, wall lights and a floor lamp. All of which are available in a range of metallic or opal finishes.
