Verpan Reflect Table Lamp

The Verpan Reflect Table Lamp, designed by Verner Panton in 1980, is a modern design with a concealed light source. When switched on, the light reflects off the slanted disc shade and creates a soft beam of ambient light. This characterful desk lamp is a perfect addition to a bedside table or desk as it emits a crisp yet diffused light throughout its surroundings.

This linear styled table lamp is a great example of Verner Panton's ingenuity and profound understanding of how to manipulate light to create a desired setting or mood. The clean and straight-forward design makes an impression wherever it goes. Available in both a grey and red finishes, the Verpan Reflect Table Lamp is brought to life from Panton's original sketches.
