Allegretto Ritmico Pendant Light
by Foscarini

The Allegretto Ritmico pendant is part of the Foscarini Allegretto collection, a range that was developed to bring the wonderful Foscarini Allegro collection on a smaller scale to users. This pendant is characterised by its aluminium rods that are styled into an intriguing and playful shape. The rods also emit sound when they touch each other and so the designers decided to use musical terms to name the pendants in the collections. The interesting shape means the pendant emits indirect light from the top and then a direct light from the bottom, making it perfect as both a spotlight and an atmospheric light.

The Allegretto Ritmico pendant light will look wonderful in kitchens, dining areas, lounges and many more, in homes and commercial spaces. You can buy several to put in rows or you can create a cluster using this pendant light and other lights from the two collections. The aesthetic and form will certainly draw the eye and the direct and indirect light is useful for many functions in the room.
